About the CA Industrial Hemp Farming Act:

Co-authored by Democrat Assemblyman Mark Leno and Republican Assemblyman Chuck DeVore, AB 1147 would return industrial hemp farming to California in January of 2007.

About Industrial Hemp:

Industrial hemp is farmed in at least 30 nations to produce thousands of products.

Sales of hemp products in the U.S. have grown to more than $250 million in 2005.

California manufacturers of hemp products currently import from around the world tens of thousands of acres worth of hemp that could be produced by California farmers at a more competitive price.

In 1999, the California Assembly resolved that "the domestic production of industrial hemp can help protect California's environment, contribute to the growth of the state economy, and be regulated in a manner that will not interfere with the enforcement of marijuana laws."

About Vote Hemp:

Vote Hemp is a non-profit organization dedicated to the acceptance of and free market for low-THC industrial hemp and to changes in current law to allow U.S. farmers to grow the crop. We educate people on the issues surrounding hemp, register voters, and build coalitions to fulfill our mission.

Vote Hemp is working to shift federal regulation of industrial hemp back to the Department of Agriculture (USDA) and out of the hands of the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA).
